About Ohio Recovery Housing

Ohio Recovery Housing (ORH) is the certifying body for recovery housing in Ohio, representing a network for individuals and organizations pursuing high ethical standards and excellence in the field of recovery housing supports. ORH focuses on providing information, technical assistance and support to operators and communities designed to increase access to living environments that are supportive of residents' long-term recovery.

We strive to improve public perception of recovery housing by promoting practices that result in well-maintained housing, living environments that support long-term recovery and residences that are valued neighbors.

About Recovery Housing

For a person experiencing addiction, residential stability is a critical need to maintain recovery. People often leave incarceration, treatment or other institutional settings and return to environments that fostered their alcohol and drug use.

Recovery housing provides a living environment free from alcohol and illicit drug use and centered on peer support and connection to services that promote sustained recovery. Recovery housing focuses on assisting residents with:

- Continued sobriety
- Improved physical, emotional, relational and spiritual health
- Positive community involvement at work, in school, with volunteer organizations or in recovery communities
- Connection to treatment or other recovery support services

Research shows that the longer a person remains in a recovery environment, the greater the chances of long-term sobriety, increased financial well-being and overall stability.

Recovery housing:

- Decreases substance use
- Lowers incarceration rates
- Increases income
- Improves family and social functioning, psychological and emotional well-being and quality of life
